MY PLAN – AS RECORDED

ANNCR: Ready or not, Texas...(SFX: weather burst), hurricanes, floods, tornados and ice storms are bound to strike. (SFX: rain/winds die out) It's hard to predict just when or where they'll hit, but preparing now could save your life. Do you have a plan?

SFX: Music up and under

At Texas Prepares dot org, making a plan is easy when you focus on family, essentials and information. First, decide where your family will meet during an emergency.

WOMAN: If we're told to evacuate, my husband will get the kids and I'll get Grandpa, and then we'll leave together.

ANNCR: Second, pack essentials for your family and pets such as extra food, water and medicine. It's also good to store flashlights, first aid supplies, and a battery-powered radio so you can grab them and go.

MAN: I've got my supplies stored in the closet and a portable kit in the trunk...

ANNCR: Third, know how you'll stay up-to-date during an emergency.

AA MALE: We'll go online for updates.

WOMAN: Family.

MAN: Essentials.

AA MAN: Information.

TOGETHER: We're ready.
